CORK HALTS BUSINESS TO PRAY FOR LORD MAYOR; LISBURN LOSS £500,000

POLICY IS OUTLINED BY MODERATES AT MEETING

Dublin Assemblage Of Men From All Parts Of Country Expresses Fear For Government's Policy

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 24.—The position at Lisburn became more serious yesterday evening. There were further lootings and burnings of the houses and shops of Roman Catholics. The damage is estimated at £500,000.

The Fire Brigade was unable to cope with the outbreaks and 70 premises are now in ruins. The military guarded the Convent and Chapel, but their numbers were insufficient to restore order.

MASSES FOR MAYOR

London, August 24.—All business, including the tramway services, was suspended at Cork today for an hour while the citizens attended masses for the release of the Lord Mayor and the other hunger-strikers. The churches were crowded and thousands of people knelt in the streets outside.

MODERATES MEET

Dublin, August 24.—A Conference of moderate minded men from all over Ireland met here today in order to express an opinion on the Government's Irish policy and discuss an acceptable settlement. The gathering, which was most representative, included many of the most prominent Irishmen. Col. Sir Nugent Everard, Lord Lieutenant of County Meath, presided.

The conference at the outset passed a resolution asking the government in the interests of peace immediately to release the Lord Mayor of Cork who is hunger-striking in Brixton gaol and is in a dangerous condition.

PREDICTS CIVIL WAR

A resolution moved by Lord French (not to be confused with the Viceroy) was passed declaring that the present government policy would inevitably lead to civil war.

Lord Macdonnell (former Member of the Council of India and later Under-Secretary of State in Ireland) moved the principal resolution, placing on record that Irish peace could be secured by an immediate binding offer of full national self-government. Specially elected Irish representatives, the resolution declared, should adapt new institutions to the special requirements of any part of the country which required special treatment.

REMAIN IN EMPIRE

Lord Macdonnell accepted Mr. Lloyd George's limitations that Ireland must remain within the Empire and that there must be special treatment for Ulster.

Sir John Stanley K.C.I.E., K.C. (formerly Chief Justice of the High Court, North West Provinces, India) speaking on Lord Macdonnell's resolution, said he believed that Dominion Home Rule would be received with overwhelming gratitude by the Irish, but if it were not acceptable, he suggested that the two opposing parties should be asked to invoke the mediation of three Colonial statesmen, to be selected mutually from Canada, Australia and New Zealand, who with their practical knowledge would be able to suggest a solution that would safe-guard the interests of both parties.

ULSTERMEN CONCILATORY

The Earl of Shaftesbury, speaking as an Ulsterman, said he believed that Ulster would accept the resolution. Both Lord Shaftesbury and Mr. Banna, K.C., also Ulsterman, spoke in the most conciliatory spirit.

Lord Macdonnell's resolution was passed. The terms of the resolution demands

(1) "Full national self-government with complete administrative, fiscal and financial independence as the only means of securing peace in Ireland, North East Ulster having special treatment and the status of a free contracting party" and

(2) "An immediate abatement of the stringency of the present policy of repression."

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 24.—The Lord Mayor's condition is critical today.

His sister has telegraphed to Mr. Lloyd George saying that, if her brother dies, "the people of Ireland will hold the British Government and him responsible for the murder."

EASTERN JORDON PEOPLE ASK FOR BRITISH CONTROL

Principal Sheikhs Appeal To Sir Herbert Samuel To Cause Occupation

(Reuter's Service)

Jerusalem, August 24.—Since the French occupation of Damascus, the principal Sheikhs from the territory east of the Jordan have communicated with Sir Herbert Samuel, the High Commissioner, requesting British occupation of their country.

Sir Herbert Samuel, in the course of a tour, met a very representative gathering of Arabs at Es Salt to whom he announced that the French Government had renewed its assurance that it did not wish to interfere with the affairs of the Eastern Jordan.

He added, however, that, as the French had fully established their influence at Damascus, it would be necessary to separate the district from the administration at Damascus.

DESCRIBES HELP

Describing the nature of British help to the districts east of the Jordan, Sir Herbert Samuel said that it was proposed to establish a separate administration to assist the Arabs to govern themselves through a number of very experienced British political officers, who would help the population to organise defense and local police, promote peace and commerce and see justice carried out.

The population would be consulted with regard to expenditure from taxes and there would also be complete freedom of trade with Palestine, but there was no question of compulsory military service or of disarmament. The principal instructions to the political officers, Sir Herbert Samuel concluded, would be to help the people to govern themselves.

Eighteen Thousand Kwangsi Troops Are Sent To Defend Waichow

(Reuter's Private Service)

Canton, August 26.—Eighteen thousand Kwangsi troops have been despatched to defend Waichow.

General Shen Hung-ying, the second in command of the Kwantung forces, has returned to Shiukwan on the North River in order to guard against the reported intended invasion of Kwantung by Yunnanese troops. General Lee Fook-lum, commanding the Cantonese troops, has been ordered to defend Tsungfa and Fayunshing.

PRICES ARE RISING

Local disturbances and the requisitioning of private junks for Government transportation are dislocating river traffic in the Canton Delta, and food prices are consequently rising.

Hitherto all has been quiet at Canton. Arriving vessels and trains are subject to severe search, and all strangers in hotels are carefully watched.

The Military Government has forced General Mu Yung-hsien, Military Governor of Kwantung, formally to dismiss General Chen Chiung-ming from the Civil Governorship of Fukien and Liu-Chiu, the defeated Defence Commissioner of Swatow, from his post. The latter has however been ordered, to remain at his post to regain the lost territory.

MU DENIES ANIMOSITY

General Mu Yung-hsien, a native of Kwangsi, now occupying the post of Military Governor of Kwantung, has just addressed a personal letter to General Chen Chiung-ming, commanding the Cantonese troops in Changchow, Fukien, explaining that the oft-reported animosity between the Kwangsi and the Kwantung military factions is non-existent. General Mu points out that he possesses no unfriendly feelings towards General Chen, otherwise he would not have put 20 battalions under Chen's command and supplied him with arms at Fukien from time to time.

General Mu states that he had to suppress the uprising of Li Yao-hen and other Cantonese leaders, as this was his official duty, as Military Governor of the Province.

(Staff Wire To The China Press)

Peking, August 27.—Dr. Paul S. Reinsch has tendered his resignation today as legal advisor to the Chinese Government in order that he may return at once to Wisconsin and conduct his campaign for a seat in the United States Senate.

A memorandum issued by Dr. Reinsch who urges that China adopt representative institutions was well received by the cabinet which is pressing the President for the prompt convocation of a National People's Assembly.

The Premier told THE CHINA PRESS correspondent that he favors the Assembly but believes that before it is called a method should be worked out for the method of election of delegates, duration of the session, powers of the Assembly and similar points.

In his opinion it should be the province of the Assembly to advise and not direct the government.

"An action took place south of Hilleh, where a party of Sikhs, who were covering the construction of blockhouses, were attacked by a strong body of tribesmen six times, but the tribesmen were beaten off every time with heavy losses. The assailants' casualties from rifle fire alone exceeded 200. Heavy losses were also inflicted by our artillery. Our casualties were 40. The construction of blockhouses continues.

Over Thousand Graduates In Six Months Period Is Notable Record

More than one thousand four hundred graduates in the new Chinese phonetic script is the record of the local Y.M.C.A. for the past six months. Indirectly, the Association is responsible for teaching several thousand more this new system whereby an ignorant person may learn to read and write the vernacular in from two weeks to a month, for many of these fourteen hundred students have been teachers and many others agreed on entering the course to open classes for the poor and ignorant in their neighborhoods.

The phonetic script has already proved its value and will undoubtedly do much towards reducing the illiteracy of this country. Demands are coming in the Y.M.C.A. from all sides for teachers, and recently one of the secretaries of the Boys' Division made a trip to Nantungchow to organise the work in that city.

The Ministry of Education is also actively interested in promoting the use of the script and has recently sent one of its representatives, Mr. Wong Wen-zan, to Shanghai to lecture on the subject. At present Mr. Wong is giving addresses before large gatherings of teachers and students in the auditorium of the Chinese Y.M.C.A. They are given every evening from eight to nine-thirty o'clock and will be continued until the end of this week.

COMMUNIQUE ISSUED

Warsaw, August 23.—The following communique is issued today: "We have separated the divisions of the Fifteenth Soviet Army, which was covering the great gap we have surrounded the bulk of the Fourth Army and the whole of the Third Cavalry Corps. Our booty is enormous and we have taken large numbers of prisoners. We have crossed the Narew and captured twenty-two heavy guns. The demoralisation, rife among the Bolshevik Northern troops, is spreading to the south and the detachments attacking Lemberg are retiring."

Mr. Balfour has written to M. Kamenef, pointing out that the British government takes the most serious view of the terms which the Soviet is stated to desire to impose on Poland, and acting on behalf of Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. Balfour asks if the Soviet proposes to adhere to them.

"On the answer, states Mr. Balfour, "the future policy of the British government depends, and as the matter is of urgent importance, I request that an answer may be received by Friday evening at the latest."

MUKDEN TO HAVE NEW COTTON MILL

American Legation Gets Notice Fengtien Governor Is Behind Industrial Project

According to a report in the Sheng Ching Shih Pao, Mukden, forwarded to the American Legation by the American Consul-General in that city, Governor Chang of Fengtien has instructed the manager of the Provincial Bank of Manchuria to establish a cotton mill.

It is learned that arrangements are progressing satisfactorily. The capital required is $500,000, which amount is to be subscribed by officials and gentry. A greater portion of the shares will be purchased by the high officials.

As the cotton produced in Fengtien Province is not sufficient for the requirements of this mill, officials of other provinces have been requested to purchase the raw material.

If, as stated, the cotton to be used is to come exclusively from China, the machinery for the mill will have to be equipped to use fiber with a very short staple.

NOTABLE JEWS TO VISIT PORT

Local Synagogue Postpones Opening Until Arrival Of Rabbi Hertz

Events of considerable significance in the history of the local Jewish Community are in course of developments. Mr. Israel Cohen, B. A., who has been entrusted by the Zionist Organisation, London, with an important mission—the first of its kind in the history of the movement—to the Jewish Communities in Australasia, India and the Far East, will arrive in Shanghai in the middle of next month.

His object is to explain the significance of the Peace Conference's decision concerning Palestine to extend and strengthen the ramifications of the Zionist projects in Palestine. Mr. Cohen has been furnished with credentials from the Foreign Office and Colonial Office, and with special messages from the Zionist leaders, as well as from Lord Rothschild, Lord Robert Cecil, M. P., Dr. Nordau and others.

NEW RABBI COMING

Another notable arrival is the newly elected Minister for Shanghai, Rabbi W. Hirsch, who will leave London on October 8 with Mrs. Hirsch on the steamer Devanha. The local committee of the Ohel-Rachel Synagogue is arranging an excellent program in celebration of his arrival. The consecration service of the new Synagogue at Seymour Road, which was to have taken place on the eve of the Jewish New Year on the 12th proximo, has been deferred until the arrival of Rabbi Hirsch in Shanghai.

Reliable information is to hand that the Rev. Joseph H. Hertz, chief rabbi of the United Hebrew Congregation of the British Empire, who is about to take a pastoral tour of the British Empire, the object of which is to give an opportunity of the communities in the British colonies and possessions to become acquainted with the incumbent of the Chief Rabbinate office, and also to afford an opportunity to the Chief Rabbi himself to study the conditions and needs of the Congregations in these parts, will include Shanghai in his itinerary.

Dr. Hertz expects to be here in January next. It is of course a courtesy visit in recognition of the great interest which the local Jewish community has evinced in all matters relating to the Jewish problem, Judaism and Zionism.

CHEN DISMISSED BY WU AT ORDER OF GOVERNMENT

General Chen to ally himself with Li Hao-chi, Military Governor of Fukien, a follower of Tuan Chi-jui, and partisan of the Anfu Club "on which not only Kwantung but the rest of China has declared war."

General Mu frankly tells General Chen that he can no longer tolerate the present attitude of General Chen's army towards Kwantung, and that he will oppose all illegitimate designs against the Province which, he declares, he has sworn to defend.

Conflicts between the followers of Generals Mu and Chen have been taking place for several days along the Kwantung-Fukien borders. Severe censorship and stringent police supervision in Canton are doing their best to conceal the truth. But the concentration of troops at Canton for despatch for service in other places is a daily sight here, and cannot be denied.

NOT TO INVADE HUPEH

Peking, August 27.—General Tang Chi-yao's representative in Peking denies that General Tang Chi-yao intends to invade Hupeh but he is not so certain with regard to General Li Lieh-chun. He asserts that General Tang Chi-yao approves of Chin Yung-peng's policy and hints that an agreement can easily be arranged.

Sun Hung-Yi Advocates Swiss Executive System For Chinese In Message

To adopt the Swiss Deputy system in the place of the present President system in China is advocated by Mr. Sun Hung-yi, former Minister of the Interior, in an open message addressed to fellow countrymen.

The message follows:

"Two years ago, I said to you that the country could never rest in peace unless whatever man could become a president and since this was a matter of impossibility, it was better to displace the "President" system by a "Deputy" system. Let me explain to you more clearly now. There are two forms of government for a republic; namely, the "President" system like that of France or America and the "Deputy" system like that of Switzerland.

The idea of having a single head, president, is transformed from the idea of the necessity of having a monarch; so, only the Swiss form of government is coincident with the true text of the word "republicanism." Since our calamity caused by the presidency has extended to so long a period as nine years, we have suffered to its fullest extent and can scarcely think out a remedy except the change of the presidential organ into a deputy council. The advantages of such a change may be enumerated as follows:

NO ONE-MAN POWER

"Firstly, it can break up the old belief in one-man's government. Since our country nine years ago was an old monarchical country, many people now still regard the president as a monarch and the receiver of the presidency thinks himself as such also. The saying that only 'so and so' is fit for the presidency is exclusively derived from the old idea for a monarch. If the present form is changed into a polyhead government, a deputy council, the old belief that a country can be fixed by only one man will be broken and the dreams for a monarchical or re-instating movement will be consequently suppressed.

"Secondly, it can remove the cause of calamity. All the troubles engineered by the late Yuan Shih-k'ai, the late Feng Kuo-chang, Tuan Chi-jui and Hsu Shih-chang, are simply strifes for the presidency. Since there are many others equally influential, it is advisable to lessen their ambition by adopting a deputyship which is clothed with only a partial power and less esteemable.

BRING HARMONY

"Thirdly, it can harmonise the different parties. For a party to dispute political power is unavoidable in the present political system. America is fortunate only because she has two big parties contesting in the presidential election. Mexico, on the other hand, has put herself into great chaos for several decades after adopting the elective system. In our country, it will be very hard for big political parties to spring up. Hence, if the political power falls into a certain party, a small one, there must be much conflict between the interests of the other small parties. But if a deputy council takes place of the presidential government it will be materially equivalent to the French Coalition Cabinet without the figure head "president." The evil derived from the absolute control of a single party may be lessened.

"Fourthly, it can remedy the evil of the Cabinet system. To have a cabinet under the chief executive to shoulder responsibility for him is a method necessary only to Great Britain, because the king has no responsibility. Since a president is elected by the people he has no such sacred dignity as a king.

DISCORD NOT LOGICAL

To have a cabinet responsible for him is a discord between name and reality and is not logical. The French System in which the president neither reigns nor governs is, as we have seen, meaningless, while the American system in which the president governs but not reigns is difficult for our country to follow; therefore only the deputy system in which the chief deputy acts in the capacity of a premier is, in substance, a cabinet system but has not the evil of "head on head" and can put an end to such a quarrel as has been experienced between the President and Cabinet during the late years.

"Fifthly, it can handle matters more carefully. Those who have doubt on the deputy system would say that matters could not be decided quickly, because opinions are diversified among the deputies. Such a saying is absolutely derived from their idea on despotism. You may see that in every foreign country, a vital policy or great change must first undergo the analysis of many brains for months and years before it is carried out. In mordern times the advance of a political matter does not depend upon quick decisions like chopping off a knot with a sharp axe but should avoid blunder and caprice. Besides, the decision, of a deputy council can be carried out still quicker than that of a cabinet, because it needn't be referred to another organ for approval. Hence, the deputy system is better than the cabinet system because it can handle matters more quickly than the president system because it can avoid the evil of blundering.

"Some people are still of opinion that the deputy system can be enforced only in a small country like Switzerland, but not in a big one. I should disagree. Of the republics of the present age, that which covers a small area may concentrate power to the central government, but that whose area is immense must adopt the federal system, like America. Since our realm is an immense one, undoubtedly, we should prefer the latter to the former. And since the administrating power is apportioned to the provinces, the size of the country has nothing to do with the form of the central government to whose administration very few affairs are left. It only happened so that Switzerland first adopted the deputy system and was not due to its size being small.

WORKINGS OF PLAN

"If the deputy system is adopted by our country, the other grades of government should be made, like Switzerland into a continuous chain with the central. Then there should be also provincial deputy governments district deputy governments and village deputy governments, all of which are elected by the people. The most important affairs are to be appropriated to the central deputy government and those next in importance, to the provincial deputy governments and so on and decided by the majority of votes. The structure of the whole country will be like that of a pyramid tapering to a point. By division of labor, matters can be easily done. When the political affairs get to the top from the base, what will be left to the central government are only a few such as the foreign affairs, military affairs and so forth. I don't see why a deputy council cannot manage them.

"I should say any political system is, in a certain sense, useful, but the most important thing is that we should adopt the one that is the best remedy for the present. Since the cabinet system with a president has been entirely paralyzed in our country we should be the first to adopt the deputy system as remedy, even if there were no foreign precedent. As there is Switzerland for our model so it is much better for us to imitate it."

MAKE YOUR MARINE POLICIES FIT CARGO AND VOYAGE

Sometimes you may need only protection against loss due to stranding, sinking, collision or fire—the usual F.P.A. Policy. Another voyage or a different cargo may make some special cover of prime importance—possibly against delay involving deterioration, theft or pilferage before loading, while loading or unloading or on board, in the Custom House or in transit to the interior, loss by breakage, leakage, or sweating, loss due to shifting of cargo, or strikes or riots, partial loss or short deliveries due to trans-shipments, damage through fire or flood on shore before or after discharge.

FRANCE PROBES STORY OF SALE OF WAR PLANS

Murderer Confesses To Aiding Germany And Involves An Army Officer

SPIES' ACTIVITIES BARED

Million And Half Francs Paid For Drawings Of Chemin des Dames Defense

Paris, July 17.—A remarkable confession by a man awaiting sentence for murder and which is being investigated by the French military authorities and the police may lead to the arrest of a band of spies who sold to the Germans military plans of the defences of the Chemin des Dames.

According to Alfred Noblecourt, formerly a French soldier, he obtained his discharge from the army through the influence of an officer whose name is being withheld from publication by the police. This officer now is accused of having been the head of a spy organisation. Also it was charged that he sent Noblecourt and a woman spy to Switzerland with the Chemin des Dames defence plans secreted inside an accordion. They passed the frontier safely and handed the documents to German agents, receiving for them a million and a half francs, which they brought back to Paris and divided among several persons.

Noblecourt says that his companion threatened to tell the police and had to be silenced by giving her a large sum of money. Then she had him detained temporarily in a hospital for the insane, declaring that he was a lunatic, until he proved his sanity to the physicians of the hospital, who finally released him. A few weeks later, when he was in an argument with an aged gardener in Clermont, Department of the Oise, he committed murder, for which he was arrested.

The police at first were inclined to believe that the spy story was fabricated in order to delay the carrying out of justice, but Noblecourt gave so many details regarding hotels where he stopped and described personages with whom he talked, all of which tallied with official knowledge of German espionage work in Switzerland, that they decided to order a thorough investigation.

Not the least interesting assertion by Noblecourt was his statement that in order to keep his past duties submissive to his orders, he buried more than a million francs in a steel box, in which also were placed letters, which, he declared, would give the military authorities all the evidence they required to punish the traitors.

German Dictators Severely Assailed

Report To The Reichstag On President Wilson's Peace Effort In 1916-17

Berlin, July 18.—The report of the Second Sub-committee of the Investigation on President Wilson's peace effort during the Winter of 1916-1917, prepared by Professor Sinsheimer, former Socialist member of the Reichstag, draws the conclusion that President Wilson's action made peace overtures possible, but that the German Government, not availing itself then, instead took a stand for unrestricted U-boat warfare.

The report made available in full here today, is signed by six members of the different political parties. It is a grave indictment of Germany's military dictators at the time. The report shows that the economists of Chancellor von Bethmann Hollweg's civil Government—even Dr. Karl Helfferich, then Minister of Finance—did not believe that unrestricted U-boat warfare could insure German victory. As the gravest mistake, the report mentions the fact that America's resources were completely underestimated.

The report says it was argued that the submarines would prevent the transportation of American troops, "If there were any." It further declares that the submarines failed to terrorise neutral shipping sufficiently, that no sufficient attention was paid to the anti-U-boat measures of Germany's enemies, and, finally, that when America entered the war the military authorities failed to make adequate provision for the long protraction of hostilities that was inevitable.

That the German public was grossly misled is a further charge in the report, which implies that, although the economic experts gave adhesion to unrestricted U-boat warfare at the behest of the military leaders, these experts were rabid party men and did not include the really first-class authorities, especially on shipping, who, the report holds, should have been consulted.

In fact, the report goes on, "no arguments against U-boat war were permitted to be placed at any time" before the Reichstag. The report especially mentions the withholding from public knowledge of communications from Dr. Haniel von Haimhausen, formerly Counselor of the German Embassy at Washington; Captain Franc von Papen, former Military Attache to the Embassy, and Dr. Heinrich F. Albert, former Commercial Attache to the Embassy, who, being familiar with the American situation, insistently warned against unrestricted U-boat warfare. The report mentions notably von Papen's message to Gen. Erich von Falkenhayn, former Chief of the German Staff, "If you fail to keep the United States out you have lost the war."

The capitulation of the civil Government, despite its misgivings with regard to what now has proved to be the mistaken policy of frightfulness and the fact that the Reichstag was kept in ignorance of the true situation were, according to the report, the cause of Germany's collapse.

"The historical blame of Germany's political Government is," the report continues, "that on the vital question of Germany's existence is allowed to happen that which in its conviction was pervicious to the country. The blame of the military leadership is that, knowing unrestricted U-boat warfare would inevitably entail America's entry, it played the card."

Apended to the majority report is in interesting document giving a marginal note in the former Emperor's hand on a memorial from Admiral von Holtzendorff, then head of the German Naval General Staff, in which the latter suggested giving a refusal to the proposal by the American Ambassador at Vienna that, to avoid embroilment, American ships going to England should not be torpedoed. The Kaiser wrote:

"I agree. To be declined. An end must be made only and for all to negotiations with America. If Wilson wants war he can make it and have it."

A minority report issued at the same time as the majority report consist mainly of arguments to the effect that President Wilson's efforts at the time were not definite enough, and that there were sufficient reasons to adopt unrestricted U-boat warfare.

News Heard In Peking

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, August 23.—The American Legation here has been informed by the Department of State that four officers of the United States have been detailed to Peking as attaches for language study and are already on their way to China.

The officers in question, who will study Chinese at the North China Union Language School, are: Major J. W. Stillwell, formerly a staff officer with the American army in France; Major L. P. Horsfall, who served as a staff officer with the War Department during the War; Lieutenant Parker G. Tenney, of the United States Cavalry, a nephew of Dr. C. D. Tenney, Counselor of the Legation; and Lieutenant A. D. Fisken, an artillery officer.

Majors Stillwell and Horsfall have already spent a year at the University of California for the purpose of studying Chinese.

PEOPLES ARMY DEFEATS NORTHERN TROOPS

Advices received in foreign official circles indicate that on August 18 and 19 the so-called "People's Army" in Fukien attacked and defeated the Northern troops under Tuchun Li Hou-chi in a battle over a front of 100 miles. The Northerners are reported to be in full retreat. The "People's Army" is the force organised by Sun Yat-sen last Winter and Spring.

JAPANESE ATTACK ON CONVENTION

The Kungtung News Agency, an organ for the dissemination of purely Japanese thought in Peking, states that General Wu Pei-fu is simply acting as the tool of others in proposing the National People's Convention. The real promoters of this scheme, says the Kungtung report, are Sun Hung-yi, Shanghai's leading radical statesman, the three Yangtsze Tuchuns, the Christian General Feng Yu-hsiang, Tang Shao-yi, Wu Ting-fang, the Shanghai Students' Union and Messrs. Lennox-Simpson, Putnam Weale, Roy Anderson and C. D. Tenney.

General Wu Pei-fu is accused by the Kungtung Agency of attacking both the civil officials and the militarists, indeed, the government itself, with his plan for calling a People's Convention; and the report adds that it is Wu's intention to hand over the government of the country to the great masses, who are to manage it along Soviet lines.

In conclusion the Kungtung report states that the entire scheme has been worked out by a group of anti-Japanese Americans and pro-American Chinese, its guiding spirits being Dr. Charles D. Tenney, First Secretary of the American Embassy in Tokio, Mr. Lennox-Simpson, Advisor to the President, and Mr. Thomas F. Millard, the founder of Millard's Review.

Militants Send 500 Banners; Picketing Harding's Home

Washington, July 19.—Five hundred purple, white and gold banners and two trunks of suffrage regalia will leave Washington tomorrow in charge of Miss Julia Emory, of the National Woman's Party, for the Harding picketing demonstration at Marion Thursday.

Miss Alice Paul, Chairman of the Woman's Party, telegraphed today that headquarters had been opened in Marion within five blocks of Senator Harding's house. On Thursday the suffragists will march from their headquarters at 10 a.m. and take position around the front porch. In addition to the purple, white and gold banners, there will be a banner for each State represented in the parade. In the center of the procession will fly the largest banner of all, urging that the Republican members of the Tennessee Legislature give a "solid vote for ratification."

The present poll in Tennessee shows eleven of the necessary seventeen votes pledged in the Senate, and thirty-four of the necessary fifty pledged in the House. Only two Republicans are pledged so far in the Senate, with six to be heard from. Eight Republicans are pledged in the House, with twenty still to be heard from.

Miss Paul, and other members of the Woman's Party, will confer tomorrow with the Democratic National Committee in Columbus. At the request of Governor Cox, a permanent committee has been appointed to consult with him throughout the campaign on the suffrage situation. Members of the committee are Miss Sue White of Tennessee, Mrs. James Rector of Columbus, and Miss Anita Pollitzer of Charleston, S. S.

Nanking Confronted By Cholera Epidemic

(China Press Correspondence)

Nanking, August 25.—Liu Kwoh-yuing, a senior student in the University died by cholera this morning at 11:00. Yesterday morning the deceased attended his work in the University Library.

According to the report by a doctor Li of the University Hospital there are now three cholera patients staying in the hospital. Two weeks ago two patients passed away by the same epidemic.

Geddes Caught By His Railway Rule

London, July 17.—Sir Eric Geddes, Minister of Transport, was hoist with his own petard in Sheffield a few days ago. Sir Eric, who regards himself as an apostle of efficiency, has been the butt of numerous idiomatic expressions uttered by disgruntled commuters who had forgotten their railroad tickets and had to pay their fares again. His rule was not to allow any passenger to pass the barrier until such passenger produced his ticket. For months this rule has been enforced strictly.

At last, to the joy of numerous victims of the rule, its author was finally subjected to it. Sir Eric arrived at the Sheffield railroad station and essayed to pass the barrier without showing his ticket. The collector there held him up and demanded his ticket. Sir Eric then made a hurried search for the elusive cardboard, but in vain. The ticket collector finally became impatient, and to appease him the Minister of Transport offered to leave with him his personal card.

Again the Fates were unfriendly, for he did not have his card case with him.

Sir Eric finally escaped by entering his name in an address book and thereby breaking his own rule. However, a passenger without a ticket must pay the forfeit—that is to say, he must buy another ticket or attend court and explain there why he would not.

Practical Studies Gain In Germany

Technical Institutions Attract Youth—Percentage Of Women Students Rises

During the second semester of the college year of 1919-20, the number of students in the German universities amounted to more than 82,000, of whom some 8,000 were women, according to a report found in a recent issue of the Frankfurter Zeitung. Besides the students in the regular colleges there were 18,000 studying in the technical institutions and 10,000 attending other institutions of higher learning, bringing the total up to approximately 110,000.

It is pointed out in the report that while the attendance at the universities showed a slight decrease, the technical institutions registered material gains, an indication of a turn toward practical studies. The newspaper account notes the necessity of more business colleges and an employment bureau for students. It remarks that the divison of the students shows, in comparison with divisons before the war, a rapid increase in the study of dentistry; also an increase of social economic and law studies, and a large decrease in theogical students and pharmacists, in spite of the increase of medical students and teachers.

The number of students for the different branches were as follows: medicine, 19,534 against 16,048 in the Summer of 1914; philology, philosophy and history, 17,883 against 14,436; law, 15,525 against 9,842; political economy and agriculture, 10,335 against 3,876; mathematics and natural philosophy, 10,125 against 8,132; dentistry, 3,307 against 276; evangelical theology, 3,436 against 4,374; Catholic theology, 1,686 against 2,058; pharmacy, 952 against 1,100; veterinary medicine, 544 against 203, and forestry, 296 against 211.

The number of women students for theology is increasing.

The smaller colleges have gained at the expense of the larger institutions. Tubingen, Wurzburg, Giessen, Rostock, Jend and Munster have larger comparative increases to show than Berlin, Munich and Heidelberg. The increases were:

Berlin, 1,409; Munich, 699; Leipzig, 527; Bonn, 502, Frankfurt, 468; Freiburg, 455; Munster, 411; Breslau, 390, Heidelberg, 391; Jena, 348; Marburg, 336; Gottingen, 316; Cologne, 305; Hamburg, 300, Tubingen, 214; Wurzburg, 209; Halle, 204; Greifswald, 150; Giessen, 144; Rostuck, 137; and Ellangen, 72.

WATER POLO

Jiangdaws: J. N. Johnston; W. J. Brown, T. R. Macdonald; I. D. Macdonald, (Capt.); A. K. Brown J. B. Brown and R. A. Berthet.

S.R.C. E. G. Barnes; J. Krygsman, L. Bertes, R. W. MacCabe, (Capt.); A. P. Goldman, A. E. Donald and B. Wallin.

Referee: Mr. D. H. Cooke.

Timekeeper: Mr. A. W. Olsen.

Goal Scorers: Messrs. J. J. Evans and S. A. Starling.

The water polo match between Club VII and the "Jiangdahs" was a most exciting game. In the first half the latter were defending the shallow end, and the larger goal at that extremity of the field of play afforded a fine target for Wallin, who put in three goals in fairly fast succession. Bertes added a fourth before the whistle went for half-time, while the Pirates were unable to make any impression on Barnes who played one of the best games as custodian ever seen in the Rowing Club tank or any other tank in Shanghai for that matter.

In the second period the Club somehow or other did not play so well in concert as in the opening moiety, and the marking was not all that could be desired. Ian Macdonald scored twice, which was quite a remarkable feat, in view of the fact that he was down as playing half-back, but his powerful shots make him independent of his position on the field when it comes to an attack on his opponents' goal. Bertes also scored once, bringing the Jiangdahs' score up to perilously near the Club's total, but no further score resulted: so the game ended in a popular win for the Club against the Jiangdaws (which being interpreted means Pirates, alias, born in Shanghai) as follows:

Rowing Club ...4 goals
Jiangdaws .....3 goals

Mr. Denys H. Cooke made an excellent referee.

Tonight's program is as follows:

BANKS OF YALE WINS AT TENNIS

New England Champion Adds Intercollegiate Singles Crown To His String

Philadelphia, July 3.—Maxwell Banks of Yale won the intercollegiate tennis championship in singles today at the Merion Cricket Club, defeating Dwight Robinson of Harvard in the final match in straight sets, 6—3, 6—3, 6—4.

Bank's victory gave Yale a clean sweep of the championships, Wilder and Wiley having won the doubles title on Friday afternoon from Drumwright and Granger of Texas. The two victories give Yale four points on the new cup offered last year. Chuck Garland, who yesterday with R. Norris Williams won the doubles title at Wimbledon, won the intercollegiate singles title last year and with Hawks gave Yale the doubles laurels.

In an interesting exhibition doubles match Wallace F. Johnson and Stanley Pearson defeated Hincheliffe and Wilder of Yale today in straight sets 6—3, 9—7. Yale's doubles championship team was scheduled to play but Wiley was forced to leave the city this morning. Hincheliffe, who is the coach of the Yale team, was then paired with Wilder.

Banks, who is the New England champion, had little difficulty in defeating Robinson. The latter, playing in the first really important match of his career, seemed to be extremely nervous during the opening set, with the result that he was erratic and wild at critical times. On the other hand Banks played the same cool game that characterised his playing throughout the tourney.

Robinson made the grave mistake of playing Banks in the back court game, at which the New England title holder excells. The result was that Robinson was unable, except on few occasions, to force his Yale rival to break on the long shots, while Robinson broke often.

Banks by his rapid fire shots just over the net continually got his Harvard opponent out of position and then he would make wicked swift shots just out of reach of Robinson that were good for points. It was the old story of experience against inexperience.

The first set started with Robinson winning the first game at 10—8 in points and the gallery looked for a close contest. The second game went to Banks by 5—3 in points. Robinson made the count 2—1 in his favor by taking the third game and Banks again equalised. Once more Robinson won his service, but that was his last game in the set, for Banks, playing like a whirlwind, captured the next three games.

The first four games of the second set followed service and then Banks broke through Robinson's delivery and brought the count to 4—2, Robinson won the seventh game and then Banks ran out the set.

The third set was more stubbornly fought than either of the other two. Robinson gained the lead at 3—2, but Banks started a spurt that earned him the next three games. Robinson won the next game, bringing the count to 5—3 and then Banks won the concluding game.

The Aged Golfer's Lament

(New York Times)

Often described, with a curious disregard of the swarming infant prodigies of the links, as "an old man's game," golf is undoubtedly most played and therefore best supported by men beyond the first flush of youth. This does not mean that they are incapable of flushing with anger. One source of wrath to many of them has long been the increasing difficulties of golf courses. Their complaint is that the new links, or the old ones remodeled, are all designed for the crack young performers who play from scratch, or with a handicap of 5 or lower. Meanwhile the men whose handicap increases with their age, till it gets to be 18 or 20, are left floundering in bunkers or raging in long grass or furious as they face impossible carries. They protest that the links are laid out not for the great majority, but for the 1 percent of players to whom traps and long shots present no terrors, but rather a stimulus and delight.

One of these suffering veterans of the links has unbosomed his griefs in a letter to The London Times. He makes a plea for the middle-aged golfer. His first assertion is that the new courses are "too long for forty." A man who talks about forty and middle age in the same breath rather puts himself out of court. We have changed the "Age of Wisdom" since Thackeray bade the pretty page with the dimpled chin to "wait till you come to forty year." But let us hear the argument for the prosecution. It is that ninety-nine golfers out of every hundred enjoy the game, but are not very good at it; that golf is more and more made solely for the experts, while the average or poor players, who really maintain the courses, are by the incessant "stiffening" of the links "damned eternally to be playing in the rough" or else in the sand, "watching the young and hardy pass us by." "Hearken unto the cry of the middle-aged." "Were I to draw up petitions, I know of two Prime Ministers at least who would head the weary phalanx with their names." While there is talk of standardising golf balls, should there not be some attempt to establish a criterion of play more favorable to the bent and white-haired toilers of the tee?

A golf architect—that most modern of professional men—made a severe reply in the next issue of The Times. He set the protester down hard. Not consider the high handicap players? They are the very ones for whom the difficult courses are constructed. The ingeniously placed hazards and the perilous shots are designed to penalise the scratch player. They need not bother the duffer at all, if he will only remember his handicap and his limitations, and play short instead of attempting the impossible. The wrath, anger, malice and all uncharitableness of the old men on the links arise from their insane desire to get the same distance and the same accuracy as the top-notchers. If only the 18-handicap man would not be fool enough to try to imitate the feats of the plus player, we should not hear all these silly complaints about the courses having been made too hard.

Such is the technical reply to a technical protest. It certainly will not satisfy the lamenting middle-aged golfer. Better success might be had with him, perhaps, if he were approached on the moral and philosophical side of his favorite game. Let him imitate, not Vardon nor Duncan, but Arthur Balfour, who must have learned a great deal of his defense of philosophic doubt on the links, where also he discovered, very likely, how unstable are the foundations of belief. Let golf be once elevated to its true position as a mental and moral discipline for creatures capable of receiving it, and all questions about scores that are too high and bunkers that are too deep become merely as the small dust in the balance.

The 15th Infantry again defeated the Navy by a score of 14 to 6. The game was slow and uninteresting, with errors and bad base ball predominating all throughout the afternoon.

The Infantry made seven runs in the fifth inning on five hits, five errors, base on balls and three stolen bases. If you can beat that you're going some.

The Navy scored four of their six runs in the eighth inning on three hits, three errors, two stolen bases and a base on balls.

About the only feature of the game was a home run by "Terrible Terry" McGowan. Terry struck out three times during the afternoon, his other attempt being a home run.

There will be a double header today, at 2:15 p.m. the game between the Infantry and Shanghai that was tied on Thursday will be played off—following this, the Shanghai Club will tangle with the Navy.

These games should prove quite an attraction as the first mentioned will decide the championship of China, in the base ball line, and for which there has been not a little rivalry.

PSYCHOLOGY AIDS POST WAR EUROPE

Countries There Have Recovered Remarkably, Says Guaranty Trust Official

EXPORTS ARE INCREASING

Rebuilding Of Factories And Railways Helps To Reduce Trade Balance

New York, July 26.—Europe's chief asset during her present period of reconstruction, following the most devitalising war the world has ever known, is the psychological attitude of her people, according to Albert Breton, Vice President of the Guaranty Trust Company writing on "Europe's Economic and Industrial Recovery" in the July issue of the Trust Companies Magazine. Mr. Breton, who has recently returned from an extensive tour abroad, says that the people of Europe have tackled their colossal job with a determined spirit, and he quotes statistics which show that most of the countries have already effected a remarkable recovery.

"Pessimism," says Mr. Breton, "is a form of ultra-conservatism, which sometimes serves a useful purpose, perhaps, by counteracting overconfidence. But we recall that some statisticians who after the armistice had seemingly proved that Europe was doomed to utter economic ruin had also confidently predicted in the early days of the war that the struggle could not possibly continue very long because modern economic conditions would not permit."

Referring to foreign trade figures as the true barometer of European recovery, Mr. Breton touches upon Great Britain, whose trade during May shows that considerable progress is being made in reducing the adverse balances.

ENGLAND AND FRANCE GAIN

"With exports at a new high record," he says, "and imports showing a slight contraction from April's total, the adverse balance for the month was only, at par of exchange, $173,765,975 against $290,494,369 in May and $198,-506,652 in April of this year. For the five months ended with May the adverse balance was $1,099,-915,370, compared with $1,362,-891,024 in 1919. Prices, of course, are higher and account for a large part of the increase in values. But, notwithstanding, the improvement is material and significant. Furthermore, these figures do not take into account the offset of the so-called invisible items, such as freight, insurance and banking charges and income from foreign investments.

"And every one is familiar with the fact that for some time past Great Britain has been shipping gold here in anticipation of paying the $500,000,000 Anglo-French loan, which matures next October. That alone is supremely significant evidence of the present psychology of the British and French peoples —of their determination to meet their financial obligations in full, and promptly. It bespeaks volumes for the amazing progress that England and France have made in the last year and a half, for otherwise they could not prepare to discharge so large an obligation.

"France's exports of manufactured products, without exception, show a considerable increase over the preceding year, the quantities being considerably more than in 1914. The silk products form the most important element of exportation. Compared with the first three months of 1919, France's total exports have tripled in value the corresponding period of the current year.

"France's deficit in the balance of trade during the first three months of 1920, according to Custom House statistics, is 4,383,000,-000 francs, which show a material betterment compared with the same period of 1919, when the deficit was 5,162,000,000 francs."

In some remarkable official figures Mr. Breton shows the extent of the recovery effected by France. He shows that of more than 630,000 houses wholly and partly destroyed some 200,000 have been made available for tenancy, and that 3,424 bridges and viaducts have been rebuilt of 4,785 destroyed. Of the railways destroyed, which totalled 3,460 miles, 2,526 miles have been reconstructed, while arable lands which were rendered useless were 7,200,000 acres, of which 6,525,-000 have been cleared of shells and 3,826,000 have been releveled and 2,587,250 acres have been plowed over or dug. Of 11,000 factories and manufacturing plants which were destroyed, more than 7,200 are being worked or under construction.

ITALY'S FEATS SURPRISING

Mr. Breton reviewed the surprising strides which have been made in Belgium, and touching upon the situation in Italy said:

"Despite innumerable obstacles, Italy is accomplishing surprising feats in economic recovery. This is most pronounced in the Piave region, which was a battleground for practically a year, and in which 350 towns and 5,000 square miles of territory were entirely or partly destroyed. According to the Minister of State for the Liberated Provinces, a house has been built to replace every one destroyed in the rural districts, and many of the towns have been rebuilt, as well as the railroads and public utilities restored. In fact, the Minister declared recently that so far as the reconstruction of the devastated regions is concerned 'Italy is at the head of all nations damaged by the war.'

"Italy's foreign trade is steadily increasing, notwithstanding the serious handicap of a lack of fuel and raw material. During the first four months of the calendar year there was an improvement of 2,215,000,000 lire, or, at par of exchange, $425,100,000, as compared with the corresponding period of the preceding year. Imports decreased by $217,704,000, as compared with the first four months of 1919, and exports increased by $209,405,000."

Dealing with French taxation, Mr. Breton says:

"According to official tables, the effect of the new French tax laws is to increase more rapidly the income tax on larger incomes. The person whose income is 50,000 francs pays in 1920 a smaller income tax than in 1919. The person whose income is 260,000 francs, on the other hand, pays 50 percent more income tax, while the Frenchman who has an income of 600,000 francs will pay 250 percent more next year than this.

"The French budget for 1920 originally put estimated expenditures at 47,000,000,000 francs, and estimated revenue at 42,000,-000,000 francs. New taxes, however, are expected to produce enough revenue to balance the budget, and in addition, since the foregoing estimates were made, reductions have been effected in the estimated expenditures to a total of more than 8,000,000,000 francs. These reductions are almost entirely in connection with proposed expenditures during the current year in respect of obligations for which France must be recouped later by Germany."

Red Agent In Paris With Diamond Fund

Paris, July 17.—The Paris police are mysteriously uncommunicative regarding the details of the arrest of a Russian giving his name as Djogoth, and who is believed to have come to Paris for the purpose of spreading Bolshevist propaganda. When arrested he had in his possession 8,000,000 francs worth of diamonds. He refused to reveal where he obtained them. Three years ago Djogoth worked as a bookbinder in a Paris shop at a small salary.

His career in diplomacy started when the Bolsheviki gained control in Russia. Leaving Paris he reported in Moscow and in Odessa, where he was employed by Bolshevist officials as adviser, because of his ability to speak French. French Socialist journalists have traced his participation in Bolshevist propaganda work successively in Rumania, Turkey and even in England, where he arrived at the same time Krassin reached that country.

It is believed that the diamonds he was carrying were a part of Lenin's fund for the use of his agents throughout Europe, and that he was serving as liaison between Moscow and individuals for the distribution of wealth which undoubtedly originated in raids on bourgeois homes.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy and retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

Dear Sir,

Due to the fact that we are FAIL TO MAKE PROFIT by using an engine, which by its SLOWNESS in work, EXPENSIVE in charges and also DIRTY and NOISY. The engine we are now using is 12 H.P. Having learned that an ELECTRIC MOTOR is a HASTY and ENERGETIC worker, it works QUIETLY, expends ECONOMICALLY, locates only a SMALL SPACE, and is EASY TO OPERATE. By the above several GOODNESS we would like to make a change and it might satisfy us when taking into use. Hope you will send us one for our benefit at your earliest convenience.

Very truly yours,

When Children Stop Playing

Don't neglect this first sign that the children are not feeling well. The first thing to do is to give them a good laxative. It is probable that their lack of energy is due to an approaching bilious attack.

Dr. Ross' Life Pills are an effective and agreeable laxative and tonic. The children do not object to taking them, and their regular use will bring good health and high spirits.

For sale at all druggists.
